Bealtaine Festival
An Age & Opportunity arts initiative

MAY
2025

Welcome to Tipperary Bealtaine 2025

Each year in the month of May, Bealtaine is presented as an annual nationwide festival celebrating the arts and creativity as we age. The festival is an initiative of Age & Opportunity, and is celebrating its 30th anniversary this year. We in Tipperary Arts Office together with our colleagues in the Tipperary Library Service, are delighted once again to present a full and varied programme of events and activities across the county.

Tipperary Arts Office, with support from the Arts Council, puts out a call each year to professional artists based in Tipperary to propose projects or events targeted at older people. In 2025, these events include a range of performances, open mic events and even a mini festival, as well as longer-term engagement projects based in community and care settings, which will culminate in a showcase during the month of May. A new initiative in 2025 is the wider programming in care settings, which includes our much-loved Music on Tour programme and two new programme strands – the Memory Box in association with the Museum of Hidden History and a Poetry Play in association with Festival in a Van.

The Libraries run an extensive programme of activities across all branches. We are delighted to have the support of Tipperary ETB who are providing some workshops in all our branches throughout May. We also acknowledge the on-going support of Tipperary Age Friendly, Creative Ireland and Healthy Ireland without which we could not provide access to so many free events.

The theme for Bealtaine 2024 – 2026 is Lust for Life, based on Iggy Pop's iconic punk-era song celebrating life's dreams, ambitions, intoxications and excesses. We hope you will join in and attend some events, embracing your own Lust for Life this year!

WAAG - an archive

Thursday 1st May, 6pm | All welcome

South Tipperary Arts Centre, Nelson St, Clonmel, Co. Tipperary, E91 W658

The exhibition runs from Friday 2nd May - 21st June 2025

Join us for the launch of the 2025 Tipperary Bealtaine Festival at the opening of an exhibition of Women Artists Action Group (WAAG).

The exhibition revisits the Women Artists Action Group (1987-1991) through their archive and examines the lasting legacy and impact of the group on Irish Art. WAAG was founded in April 1987 in Clonmel, so it is timely to bring this exhibition and this conversation back to where it all started.

Active until 1991, WAAG was a collaboration of women artists, art historians, and professionals working in the arts, and was established in response to the exclusion of women artists in Ireland. The main purpose of WAAG was to highlight the work of female artists, to redress the imbalance in the selection process of that time, and to organise exhibitions and publications. WAAG was a hugely successful organization throughout Ireland and became part of the International Association of Women in the Arts (IAWA).

All the archival material in this exhibition is on loan from NIVAL (the National Irish Visual Arts Library) located at NCAD, Dublin and artist Pauline Cummins. NIVAL is a public research resource dedicated to the documentation of 20th and 21st century Irish visual art and design. NIVAL collects, stores, and makes accessible for research an unparalleled collection of documentation about Irish art in all media.

PROGRAMMES IN CARE SETTINGS

Providing opportunities for older people in nursing homes, hospitals and day care settings to access arts and creative activities and performances is a central part of the work of the Tipperary County Council Arts Office Bealtaine programme. This year we have expanded our offering to provide three programme strands in these settings; Poetry Play, Memory Box project and Music on Tour

Tipperary Arts Office is delighted to partner once again with Festival in a Van to present a new one-woman poetry play in Cashel and Fethard Day Care Centres.

Poetry Play

'What We Wear When We Go Out', a one-woman poetry-play by Wexford writer A.M Cousins, offers a funny and touching social commentary on Ireland and Irish society.

Using articles of clothing that inspired the poems as props and visuals, Cousins traverses and subverts themes of marriage, family, grief, and expectation. As each garment appears on stage, a new layer is stripped back on the experience of being of a woman in Ireland in the 1960s, 70s, 80s and today. Through profound evocations of moments in an ordinary life, a frank and colourful narrative is stitched together. Cousins deftly weaves poetry, music and visuals to navigate her way through everything from routine farmyard duties, to dreams of faraway travel, to the shooting of Garda Adrian Donohoe.

A.M Cousins (Anne McCarry) came to writing in her mid-50s, and has since built up a commendable track record. She has won Fish Poetry Prize and the Francis Ledwidge Award, been published in The Stinging Fly, Poetry Ireland Review, The Irish Times, and her first collection Redress was published by the Revival Press to excellent reviews.

The Memory Box project

In association with
Tipperary Museum of Hidden History

Tipperary-based artist Leisa Gray has developed two memory boxes in association with the Museum of Hidden History in Clonmel. Based on the themes of Hearth and Home and Pastimes, the memory boxes are full of items that people will associate with bygone days (examples include an RTÉ guide, a plate featuring the JFK and the Pope, a fishing net, Barbie and Ken dolls, posters, admission tickets and programmes etc.) and stimulate a lot of conversation and reminiscence. Participants are encouraged to handle the items and enjoy the recollections and Leisa Gray is a textile and visual artist, maker and singer. She has worked extensively with museum and gallery collections as well as coordinating large scale community projects.

Tipperary Arts Office is delighted to have the support of the Museum of Hidden History to provide sessions with Leisa in Borrisokane Day Care Centre, Templemore Day Care Centre, Golden Years Day Care Centre, Thurles and (tbc DCC). Creative Places Tipperary Town is supporting a session in St Vincent's Day Care Centre.

Radio Rock

Reimagining the birth and broadcast of 'Radio Carrick' amidst the pulse of 1980s life.

Newspaper coverage of the launch of Radio Carrick in 1980

Radio Rock is an original short drama written and directed by Mary McGrath echoing Carrick-on-Suir's local Pirate Radio Station Radio Carrick that was on air from August 1980 until October 1981, covering every genre of music and programme type. It was a voice to and for the town and served the community with local news and interests.

Radio Carrick presenters and founding members interviewed that inspired this drama included Gerry and Mary Anne Gannon, Peg Power, Mary O'Hanlon, Liam Butler, Johnny Irish and Nicholas De Paor.

'Radio Rock' will be performed by Sheenagh and Michael Raggett, Aileen O'Keefe, Pat Quinn Bolger, Jacquie Ahern, Dennis Barry, Enda O'Driscoll, Peter McGrath and Paula O'Dwyer. Produced by Linda Fahy, Tudor Artisan Hub, is supported by drama consultants Maria Clancy and Barry Comerford.

Producer Linda Fahy, from the Tudor Artisan Hub in Carrick-on-Suir, is a fervent advocate for the arts. Her dedication to community involvement, artisan support, and cultural promotion enriches lives. Collaborating with Mary McGrath on another social history initiative, Linda aims to preserve cultural heritage, foster community connections, and inspire appreciation for local narratives.

Writer/Director Mary McGrath, member of 'Writing Changes Lives' and Brewery Lane Theatre has collaborated with Tudor Artisan Hub on numerous projects. This is Mary's third social history drama, which are secretly little love letters to the town and people where she was raised. Mary works best with deadlines and cake!

Three Back, Three Forward

Throughout the months of March and April, Eileen Acheson and Jenny Cox of Write Minds have worked with a group of writers to look back, through the lens of poetry, at social and personal changes over the last three decades and to look forward, with humour and hope, at what is to come.

Drawing inspiration from these changes and personal experiences, participants came together over the course of four poetry writing workshops to develop poems from first to final draft.

These finished poems have been printed and sustainably framed to be showcased at a Spoken Word event where the writers will read their inspiring work and talk about the writing process. The evening will also feature local choral talent, Clontempo. Refreshments will be served afterwards.

Thanks to Clonmel Library and the OPW and staff at the Main Guard, Clonmel.

Write Minds was formed by Adlerian counsellor and group facilitator, Eileen Acheson and freelance writer and project facilitator, Jenny Cox. Since its formation, Eileen and Jenny have worked on the development and facilitation of projects, workshops, collaborations and events rooted in poetry and wellness.

Memory Land: A Playground Festival for all ages

For Bealtaine 2025, members of the Clonoulty Rossmore Vintage Club, Clonoulty Rossmore Young at Heart Group, Clonoulty Tidy Villages and students from Clonoulty National School have collaborated with local artist Aoife Barrett on an exciting new memory and play themed creative project

pic credit: Billy, Clonoulty NS

Memory Land: A Playground Festival for all ages celebrates the vibrancy, spontaneity and boundless energy of childhood while inviting participants to reconnect with the simple joys of life and rediscover their playful side. Throughout April and May Aoife will work with the different Clonoulty community groups to facilitate a series of memory and play-inspired workshops and activities to recreate memories and playthings of the past. By combining the energy of play, the power of nostalgia, and the beauty of human connection, this exciting new community project becomes a living, breathing celebration of life. The project culminates in a public play-themed festival event at the Clonoulty Community Garden, bringing together project participants in a celebration of nostalgia, imagination and the timeless joy of play.

Aoife Barrett is a multi-disciplinary artist and printmaker with a career that spans artistic creation, education, community engagement, community gardening and entrepreneurship. Her socially engaged arts practice centres on printmaking and collaboration, which she actively promotes through her travelling print studio, Print Van Go.

My Singing Bird

This project takes its title from My Singing Bird, a Munster folk tune with words by Irish poet, Edith Wheeler, popularised by the Clancy Brothers.

Artists Andy Spearpoint and Leisa Gray are working in partnership with Silver Arch Family Resource Centre in a series of five sessions at the Tyone Centre in Nenagh. Beginning by learning and sharing popular songs about birds, from there the group and artists will explore human relationships with the world of birds through songwriting, soundscape making, singing, creative writing and image making. A final session to share the work will be held in venue Nenagh Arts Centre.

Leisa Gray is a textile and visual artist, maker and singer. She has worked extensively with museum and gallery collections as well as coordinating large scale community projects.

Andy Spearpoint is a musician, sound artist and songwriter who has worked in community music and music education for over twenty years. He plays guitar and sax and often works with sound sampling and electronics.

Shaped by Seasons

Art, like life moves through seasons, each bringing its own colours, textures and stories. Do we carry the colour of a childhood spring? The golden glow of an unforgettable autumn? The weight of a hard winter? The freedom of a summer's day?

Shaped by Seasons is more than an art project, it is a witnessing to the passing of time, transformation and the beauty of creative ageing. It is a two-week creative experience designed to explore the richness of life's journey through painting, creative writing, mindfulness and yoga. Working in an uninterrupted studio setting and with a variety of art materials on large canvases participants will give shape to personal memories, emotions and dreams. Creative writing will celebrate past and present Lust for Life, while mindfulness and yoga will nurture a deep connection between body, mind and creative spirit.

As the project unfolds so too will a body of work – paintings that hold the essence of lived experiences, poetry that speaks to the heart and a collective celebration of creativity in later life. The project will culminate in an exhibition at At 6s&7s Gallery where each unique voice will be honoured and their creative stories shared.

Jo Slade is a poet and multi-media artist. Author of seven collections of poetry and two chapbooks of poems. Joint winner, Michael Hartnett Poetry Prize 2014. Her most recent collection, Once published by Salmon Poetry in 2025. Gerry Carew, owner of At 6s&7s Gallery, has worked as an art facilitator, art therapist and visual artists since the 1990s. She has exhibited in solo and group shows; her inspiration comes from her connection to place and landscape. Her most recent work was exhibited at the 2024 Biennale of Art Therapy, Perugia, Italy. Art Therapist, artist and writer Patricia Leahy Cocoran holds an NCAD Fine Art Degree and an MA in Art Therapy. A lover of music and nature, Patricia is dedicated to meditation and arts in health practices, most recently facilitating groupwork for Louth Local Development project for disadvantaged people. Paula Hynes is a yoga teacher. Her interests include art, poetry and creative writing. Her bespoke approach Nurture your Nature incorporates creativity and yoga to encourage positive self appreciation and help people be comfortable in their own skin.

The Irish Dresser Project, talk with Michael Fortune

Fri 16th May, 11am

Event free, no booking required

Thomas Mac Donagh Museum, Cloughjordan

The Irish Dresser Project is an ongoing body of research that Michael Fortune has been conducting since 2015. The seed for this collection was planted in the mid-1970s while living with his grandmother in her 'two-up, two-down' cottage. At the epicentre of this small house was a simple, practical and well-used kitchen dresser. Later in life, Fortune began noticing the importance of such objects as receptacles of life stories and the deep connection between them and their owners. One thing that became apparent was how the role of the dresser changed over the years from a practical place to hold cups, milk, flour, sugar, etc. in the kitchen to a more shrine-like position in the home. In saying that, the dressers are not just dry pieces of folk furniture or relics of the past. Instead they are an evolving and ever-changing display reflecting the experiences, lives and values of their keepers, serving as shrines as well as practical pieces of furniture. Michael will present a talk on his findings with the dresser project and tease out their stories while paying attention to regional designs and makers.

A Rare Journey; Nora Joyce's Odyssey

He wants me to read his auld book, but sure no one in their right mind could make head nor tail of it.”

A Rare Journey celebrates the life of a truly remarkable Irish woman Nora Joyce, in a highly entertaining roller-coaster 75-minute play, filled with the music and song the Joyce's knew, and delights in Nora's quick and often razor-sharp wit. Written and performed by Paula Greevy-Lee, this one-woman show separates the funny, wise, sharp-witted, complex, and compassionate Nora from her famous literary alter ego Molly Bloom, and dispels the lazy myths that have often cast Nora as an inconsequential appendage of her famous husband.

Post-show discussion with writer and actor Paula Greevy-Lee and director Gerard Lee.

It would take an epic saga to do justice to Bob Dylan's long, storied career. Instead, James Mangold's excellent biopic hinges on his first major reinvention, when he plugged in his electric guitar at 1965s Newport Folk Festival. The film follows the young singer (a superb Timothée Chalamet, capturing Dylan's voice perfectly) at key steps along the way, from meeting heroes Woody Guthrie and Pete Seeger to relationships with Sylvie Russo and Joan Baez. A hugely enjoyable portrayal sees Dylan's enigma survive the experience intact.
